CHIEF EXECUTIVE

UK BUSINESS ANGELS ASSOCIATION

On behalf of UK Business Angels Association, I should like to welcome you to this Winter Investment Forum. I should like to begin by expressing our sincere appreciation to CMS, leading international law firm, for their generous hospitality and for partnering with us for this event today. I should also like to thank NVM Private Equity and Seedrs for their valuable support for the Forum.

We have titled this Winter Investment Forum “Future Forward: Embracing Change and Opportunity”. Whilst we will be looking back at 2018 to identify and gain insights on some of the key trends and developments in the angel and early stage investment market, we will, most importantly, be looking forward to the year ahead and where investment opportunities will lie for investors in 2019. We are bringing together over 20 experts from investment and entrepreneurship today who will be sharing their own experience and giving us their perspectives, and I should like to thank them all for their most valuable support. We will be hearing about some of the key emerging technologies and how these are converging with other leading sectors to address some of our major social and market challenges, looking at areas such as AI, IoT, Fintech and Cybersecurity. We will also have a valuable update from Catherine Lewis La Torre on the new Regional Angel Investment Programme being put in place by British Business Investments, bringing £100m to address the current regional disparity in the level of angel investing and stimulate new angel investment capacity in the year ahead.

By the time you are reading this, the Parliamentary vote on the Brexit deal will have taken place, so our debates today will also be framed in the context of the outcome of this vote and what the next steps might be for our country. So this could not be a more significant time for all of us to come together today to consider the potential impact and what this might mean for investing in early stage and scale-up businesses in 2019. At this Forum we will be considering the implications for building and scaling investee businesses in the year ahead. We will be looking at the key policy and practical considerations and examining what more can be done by the investment community and at regional/ national level to enable us to address uncertainties and take advantage of new opportunities that might emerge in a time of disruption and change.

At UKBAA we will be doing our best to continue to build, grow and connect a vibrant and dynamic angel and early stage finance eco system in 2019. We will be keen to hear from you all today in these debates about what more you think we can do at UKBAA to support your investing in 2019 to enable you to address the uncertainties and make the most of what lies ahead.

I should like to thank CMS once again for their generous support and partnership, and also to NVM, Seedrs and our event exhibitors. I hope that you find this conference interesting and stimulating and make valuable new contacts, and we look forward to working with you in the year ahead.

Great things happen when creative minds meet legal brains.

Technology is advancing at a formidable speed and new technologies are creating unprecedented opportunity. To stay ahead, you need a law firm that can deliver your creative ideas swiftly, securely and confidently. CMS has over 100 TMT specialists in more than 40 countries. OUR EVENT PARTNERS WELCOME

ANTHONY WALLER
PARTNER, CMS

Welcome to the UK Business Angels Association winter investment forum from CMS, one of the World's largest international, full service law firms with a strong sector focus in technology, media and telecommunications. We are delighted to be supporting the UKBAA at a moment of great opportunity resulting from political, social and technological change in these unpredictable times. Now, more than ever, the UK needs an active and healthy ecosystem of early stage investors and business mentors to help drive economic and social wellbeing in our country.

At CMS we know that, to start and build a successful business, entrepreneurs require a good idea, energy, determination and most importantly the right people around them to open up the opportunities for growth. We recognise the importance of investing our time in working with, and investing in, start-ups. It is our privilege to work alongside some of the best start-ups in the UK market. We understand that for early-stage businesses, legal advice may be pushed to the bottom of the priority list, not least due to the issue of cost. However, for a business to scale successfully, especially when investors are involved, having the right foundations is imperative.

In response to this challenge, just over three years ago we launched our own legal accelerator called CMS equiP – this is a dedicated programme to support tech start-ups in the early stages of their growth. As lawyers to the member businesses on our programme we offer a structured fee model offering a combination of significantly discounted time and fixed fee services available right across the extensive range of services we have to offer. As business partners to our equiP members we want to put the resources and connections of this multi-national organisation to work, offering introductions to relevant industry players, access to facilities and expertise as well as access to exclusive events and workshops.

Both myself and John Finnemore, a venture capital partner here at CMS look forward to moderating sessions on the use of new technologies (including AI) and Fintech later this afternoon.

At CMS we are keen to stimulate the AI debate and to help provide guidance to our clients. There are many thought provoking questions from a legal perspective that relate to AI such as who is at fault if AI systems fail or cause damage, and the question of liability for the results of AI decision making and reasoning. Turning to Fintech, we are keen to discuss the recent growth we are seeing in authentication and cybersecurity, wealth management and financial inclusion services, back office processing and blockchain based solutions.

Business angels bring a unique combination of financial, intellectual and social capital to developing businesses. The start-up, early stage and SME landscape would not exist at the scale and dynamism that it has today without your active involvement supporting entrepreneurs. At CMS we recognise the importance and celebrate the success of this critical part of our economy. We will continue to work alongside and to support business angels and the companies in which they invest through our work to see this element of the investment landscape flourish. We wish you a productive conference and the best of success in all your investment activity.

CHRIS ADELSBACH Managing Director, TechStars & UKBAA Angel of the Year 2018-19

Chris is a London-based entrepreneur, FinTech investor, advisor, and mentor. He is a Managing Director at Techstars, the worldwide network that helps entrepreneurs succeed. He is an angel investor in over 50 companies including Atom Bank, Smart Pension, Atlas Money, Post Quantum, Everledger, Cuvva, Simudyne, Railsbank and Shieldpay to name a few. Fintech Global recently named Chris as the most active Fintech angel globally over the past three years. He has spoken at numerous trade missions and is frequently asked to advise international banks who want to launch open-innovation platforms and governments who want to support startup ecosystems. He mentors FinTech founders in London, New York, Tel Aviv, Dubai and Cape Town.

DR ADAM BEAUMONT Founder & CEO, AQL & Founder, NorthInvest

Adam is an active angel investor with a portfolio spanning healthcare, education, collaboration tools, and technology for social change. He also founded the not-for-profit investment platform NorthInvest which drives co-investment in startups across the North of the UK. As an ex-lecturer at the University of Leeds and a communications specialist within the MoD, Adam is a consistent innovator and technologist with a strong cyber security background. In 1998, he created telecommunications platform company, aql which today hosts many tens of millions of phone numbers and providing messaging and communication services to leading banks, retail, logistics, healthcare and education. He's created enabling services which are used by some of San Francisco's biggest tech success stories.

BRUCE COLLEY Access to Finance Manager, Innovate UK

As the Access to Finance manager at Innovate UK my role is to help the SMEs and early-stage businesses we support to connect with sources of private sector debt and equity finance (and other forms of business support such as coaching and mentoring). This in turn enabling them to commercialise their innovations and grow their businesses. Previous experience with over 6 years as Investment Director of a business angel network and also directly brokering angel / VC deals provides me with a clear understanding of what makes a business attractive to investors and VCs.

JOYEETA DAS CEO & Founder, Gyana

Joyeeta Das is an entrepreneur that built a career in the technology sector. She founded and exited two successful startups, one in tech sector and one in non-profit. Her latest venture – Gyana – has raised $3.5m in funding. She holds a degree in Electronic Engineering, a degree in Physics and an MBA from Oxford University where she was awarded the Said Scholarship and also received a Fellowship for the Entrepreneurship Centre. Joyeeta is in "MIT 35 under 35" shortlist, a Tedx speaker, an ambassador for Innovate UK's "Women In Innovation", she volunteers with numerous charitable organisations and has been selected to be a diplomatic representative at UK- Brazil/ Canada/USA trade delegations. She was awarded "Top 100 techie in UK" by MSDUK 2017, "Top 100 Asian TechStars in UK Tech" 2017 and "Top 10 Women in IT" 2018.

THOMAS DAVIES Chief Investment Officer, Seedrs

Tom is a qualified lawyer in England and New York and began his career with Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer LLP in London, Hong Kong and New York. As CIO, Tom works closely with the Executive Chairman to identify strategic initiatives that the company should be pursuing and leads the teams which are responsible for bringing them to market. Last year Tom headed up the design, build and launch of the Seedrs Secondary Market, where investors can buy and sell shares in companies that they have invested in from and to each other.

JOHN FINNEMORE Partner, CMS

John is a Partner in the Corporate team at CMS London. He completed his training in 2005 with a large US law firm and subsequently worked for two major UK law firms, being made partner in 2015. She advises new entrants to the UK health market including digital and start-up companies and is an angel investor. Pam Founded and co-chairs The Cambridge Health Network, a membership group of senior players in UK health, both private and public sector. She sits on the Investment Committee of Cambridge Enterprise, the technology transfer company of the University of Cambridge. Pam is an active member of Cambridge Angels and on the board. In 2016 Pam was named one of the 100 most influential leaders in Health Tech by Hot Topics.

IRENE GRAHAM CEO, ScaleUp Institute

Irene is the CEO and a board director of the ScaleUp Institute. A former senior banker at Standard Chartered Bank where she held both European and global managing director roles, she set up, ran and scaled several of the bank's key client and product businesses across its corporate and institutional bank and led several global M&A activities. Before joining the ScaleUp Institute she was Managing Director at the British Bankers Association. She led a host of strategic work across the industry from the regulatory and business perspectives, including leading the Business Finance Taskforce set up by the CEOs of the UK banks which resulted in the creation of the BGF, the Enterprise Research Centre, the SME Finance Monitor, and Mentorsme as well as being responsible for new export and business policy initiatives including the Small Business Act, expanded UKEF products and Open Banking which Irene advised Government and industry upon.

IMRAN GULAMHUSEINWALA OBE
Implementation Trustee, Open Banking Implementation Entity

Mr. Gulamhuseinwala was appointed as Trustee for the Open Banking Implementation Entity (OBIE) on 13 April 2017. In his role as Trustee, he has oversight and responsibility for Open Banking's development and delivery of the common technical standards underpinning the Competition and Market Authority's (CMA) open banking initiative. He is seconded to Open Banking from Ernst & Young LLP (EY) where he is a London-based partner in its financial services practice. He is also EY's Global Head of FinTech. At EY, he has worked closely with government, regulators and industry bodies to drive the FinTech agenda, leading studies for both UK Trade & Investment and HM Treasury to measure the size and growth of the FinTech sector in the UK and develop a strategy for future growth. He was awarded an OBE in the New Year's Honours list for his contribution to the financial services sector.

RICHARD HADDEN Partner, Breed Reply

Richard is a partner at Breed Reply, the IoT investment and incubation arm of Reply SpA, where he is the Director of Investment. He has spent nine years in operating roles, as business development director of nGame (subsequently Hands-on Mobile) and CEO of Cytox, alternated with nine years of venture capital investment management, most recently at Finance Wales.

ANDREW JENKINS Founder, Conviction Investment Partners

Andrew is the founder and CEO of Conviction Investment Partners (CIP), a syndicate of international HNWIs and family offices that invest opportunistically in a variety of fast-growing tech companies. He has invested in disruptive technologies for over 15 years thereby developing an impressive investor following. Andrew was the lead financier and investor in Mimecast during its first 5 years; the business went on to list on NASDAQ with a market cap of circa $2bn. More recently, Andrew and his syndicate of angels participated in an investment in iZettle which yielded strong returns upon its sale to PayPal earlier this year. Prior to fully committing himself to venture capital, Andrew had successful career in trading and investment management. He was the Head of Private Clients at GAM for 7 years.

MILES KIRBY Managing Director, AV8 Ventures

Miles Kirby is Managing Director AV8 Ventures. AV8 is a €150m fund investing at Seed and Series A stages in Next Generation Mobility, Big Data and AI, Digital Health and Cybersecurity in Europe and the US. EXHIBITORS

CAMBRIDGE CAPITAL GROUP

Cambridge Capital Group ("CCG") is a business angel network of private investors, family offices and venture funds that have been investing in start-ups in the Cambridge hi-tech cluster for 18 years. Our group has more than 80 highly successful members from a variety of backgrounds ranging from finance, technology and commerce to life sciences, agriculture and engineering including two UKBAA Investors of the Year. Individual members invest from £10k to 500k into screened and qualified opportunities via a collaborative process. CCG's objective is to support the best early-stage technology ventures emanating from Europe's leading hi-tech super-cluster, Cambridge, London, Oxford: the so-called "Golden Triangle". Our investors come together at quarterly member-only pitching events in historic college venues to view a selection of screened investment opportunities. Members also have full access to our online deal portal where new opportunities are regularly uploaded. We invest in early-stage B2B businesses, with strong intellectual property and have a portfolio of more than 70 hi-tech businesses at different stages of development, and enjoyed 4 highly profitable exits in 2016.

DELIO

Delio is the digital toolset and infrastructure of choice for angel networks looking to digitise and streamline their offering - driving member engagement, enabling intuitive real-time company/investor activity & sufficient management of the community; your own branded digital platform can helping drive investment activity. Offering a customisable, white label platform for connecting angels with investments, Delio provides the flexibility and control across deal origination, engagement and reporting to improve efficiency and maximise engagement as well as providing a regulated and compliant environment to expand your offering. The Delio solution goes beyond a traditional platform offering. With configurable frameworks built on the same architecture, institutions can connect with each other on an individual basis so deal flow can be distributed both internally and externally, helping expand your potential investor base or source the right deals in a highly structured & controlled manner.

OXFORD CAPITAL

OXFORD CAPITAL

The Co-Investor Circle is our network of sophisticated investors, who share our passion for supporting interesting businesses, with the potential for rapid value growth. When our managed funds make an investment, we offer members of our Co-Investor Circle the chance to invest directly alongside, and on the same institutional terms. When you join, we will share our deal flow with you, so you can build your own portfolio over time by backing the entrepreneurs and businesses which excite you the most. Conviction is one of the top 3 largest angel groups in the UK*. We invest directly in early stage, fast growing, post-revenue B2B tech businesses in the UK and Europe.

By using our ‘Just-in-Time’ funding model we are able to lower equity dilution for the founders and existing investors and facilitate secondary market opportunities.

We are always happy to hear from exciting companies seeking funding and investors looking for co-investment opportunities. Please contact us on rebecca@cip.ltd or kristina@cip.ltd.

• According to the UKBAA.
